

QUALITY OF AIR

Do you wish to have your project LEED-certified? Do you want to control your building's air quality or fix any asbestos or mould-related problems?

At Aquazul Inc., we have the required skills to monitor the air for the presence of asbestos and humidity. If needed, our decontamination team will be readily available to make the zone safe and help you navigate the certification process.

Mould presence in houses is not only a health hazard but also an obstacle to achieving green building certifications, such as LEED. Feel free to turn to us if you are struggling with poor air quality. We also specialize in contaminated material (asbestos and mould) management.